

The 9th Student Literary Competition

sponsored by English Philology at KUL is meant to encourage excellence in writing in English.

Eligibility:

The competition is open to all undergraduate students (BA studies) and graduate students (MA studies) registered during the 2022-2023 academic year in English Philology.

Description:

You may submit your work within one of the general categories: short fiction, non-fiction, drama and poetry, as well as song lyrics. You may enter one work in each category.

There is no themed category for submissions.

The text must be in English.

Each entry must reflect the contestant's own work and original writing.

Guidelines:

Entries must be unpublished.

Manuscripts (in PDF format) should be sent via email to filang@kul.pl.

To ensure peer review of your work, your name must not appear anywhere on the document; however, the title of the work must appear on each page of the manuscript.

Along with the text you should enclose a separate file with your name, email address and year of studies.

Deadlines and Judging:

The deadline is May 9th 2023.

The jury consists of Competition Coordinator, dr Łukasz Borowiec, and dr hab. Urszula Niewiadomska-Flis, prof. KUL, Jury member.

Recognition of winners:

All competition participants will be notified by email about the results.

The official acknowledgement of the winner will also be posted on FA webpage.

Winning entries will receive a prize (in the form of a book) from English Philology.

Any further inquires should be directed to the competition coordinator:

dr Łukasz Borowiec – [lukasz.borowiec\[@\]kul.pl](mailto:lukasz.borowiec[@]kul.pl) or to dr hab. Urszula Niewiadomska-Flis, prof. KUL – [urszula.niewiadomska-flis\[@\]kul.pl](mailto:urszula.niewiadomska-flis[@]kul.pl)

(please write "Student Literary Competition" in the subject line)